

Tuesday
11
August

Bathtime products that take care of the worrying and the styling

It seems like every week there is a new list of chemicals that I should make sure are not in my family's bath products, and frankly it gets hard for me to keep track.

But Original Sprout has got worried moms covered. They have a fabulous line of organic styling products, haircare, and bath products that are free of pretty much everything you want them to be free of. Plus they have great kits to nip eczema in the bud, and offer a worry-free lice shampoo.

Their website has tons of information about what chemicals are missing from their products, like PhytoEstrogens, parabens, and oils that can cause allergic reactions (oh, and and what celebrities love the products too).

All this is fantastic, but a lingering question remained: Are these products I actually want to use? And the answer is yes. The hair and body wash is gentle and smells divine, and the miracle detangler makes my hair so nice and soft that I didn't realize that I was swinging it around excessively until my husband started to make fun of me. Worry-free plus makes me look good? Hell yeah. -Carrie

Find styling products, shampoos and conditioners, and skin and hair kits at Original Sprout.

Find More: Bathtime, Beauty Picks and General Hygiene, Organics