

- Health
- Fashion
- Home
- Food
- Living
- Entertainment
- Mama Bite
- Video
- Blog
- Guides
- Shop

home - need a better partner for your kid's knotty hair?

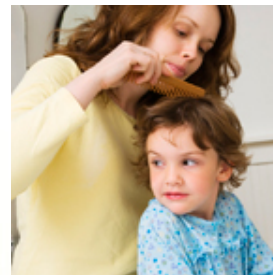

Detanglers

Need a better partner for your kid's knotty hair?

09.10.2009

The Bite:

Follow this lead: Pair up with a planet-friendly detangler and get a comb through your kid's mop top, minus the crying. These hair tonics, tested by our 2- to 4-foot crew, moisturize and smooth out strands for easier brushing, but skip conventional products' questionable chems and other fancy footwork.

The Benefits:

- Saying adios to hormone disruptors. We picked plant-based detanglers without parabens (preservatives) and phthalates (which mimic estrogen) - chems linked to early puberty and fertility problems.
- Embracing wildlife. Regular detanglers often contain formaldehyde, which gets washed down the drain and doesn't always filter out in water treatment plants - leading to polluted rivers and oceans.
- No ballroom, er, bathroom drama. Easier, quicker combing means fewer tears.

Wanna Try:

OK for all ages

- Original Sprout Miracle Detangler - sprays on as a fine mist with a subtle floral scent from essential oils; turned our baby tester's bedhead into soft curls; phytoestrogen- and soy-free ($11/4 ounces).